Instructors

We carefully interview and screen each instructor in order to maintain the quality of our program. Our instructors have the right blend of professional experience and teaching skills. They are experts in a variety of health care fields who are interested in raising new professionals. Our instructors will bring real world experience to the classroom, assist you in understanding the course materials, and encourage you to succeed in the class and in your future profession.

Curriculum, Student Materials and Practice Aides:

We partner with leading global allied health content and curriculum providers. We support titles from Elsevier, Mosby, Saunders, Thomson Learning, Delmar and other leading allied health publishers. Our publishing partners have worked with us to ensure that leading health care industry practice is taught in the classroom. Through these publishers and by employing leading subject matter experts, we ensure that our syllabi, outlines, workbooks, slides and other student materials are the best in the industry and aligned with current health care industry practices.

In addition to leading curricula, our programs are more than just "reading out of the book". Beyond the specific clinical or lab requirements of certain programs, many partners and students are surprised to find the amount of hands-on labs and exercises that are reviewed during classroom time. Practicing venipuncture on a practice arm, operating EKG machines, visiting a dialysis clinic, working with samples of non-narcotic pharmaceuticals and other types of clinical practice are all part of the real world clinical skills that students experience in the classroom. Practicing these skills in the classroom is intended to simulate an on-the-job experience and to expose students to skills required in their chosen fields.
